

WEATHER for Kentucky
Thursday Probably fair

HOPKINSVILLE KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1917.

VOL. 39—No. 35

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The Russian emperor was nicked.

Hogs made a new record Tuesday, going to $15.10.

Now would be a good time for the Turks to holler 'nough.

The First Kentucky Regiment is due in Louisville tomorrow.

Uneasy lies the head on the shoulders of Constantine, of Greece.

If this thing keeps up a new General "Haig treaty" will soon be in order.

The Germans may be shortening their lines but they are lengthening their run.

If the French have passed Ham, as was reported Tuesday, they are going some.

Don't be surprised to see Turkey fly the Teuton coop and ask for a separate peace.

Evansville requires a license on bicycles and seven preachers have been called to law for riding unlicensed wheels.

A rumor reached the city Tuesday that the Kaiser had been assassinated, but it turned out that he was only exasperated.

In their advance in France, the British and French are nearing the line at Laon and are preparing to make good on the name.

At a Cabinet meeting Tuesday, the President was urged to call Congress to meet at once. The Cabinet favors a formal declaration that a state of war exists.

Tobacco dealers throughout the country are sending protests to Washington against the alleged intention of Congress to prohibit the sale of tobacco at army posts.

Although locked up by her parents, near Berea, Ky., Miss Beatrice Carter escaped from her room, joined her lover, W. H. Poe, and they were married in spite of opposition.

School boys in a Washington high school, headed by Harry Roper, son of Daniel C. Roper, removed the Kaiser's picture from the wall of the German class room and substituted that of President Wilson draped in two American flags.

Further important advances over a front of about 100 miles by the British and French armies in France and additional gains by the Russians and British over the Turks in Turkish Armenia, Persia and Mesopotamia, are the outstanding features in the war news today.

The Germans in their retreat from France are devastating the country, burning villages and destroying orchards and even blowing up farm lands in which great craters have been left by explosions. In addition, bridges have been destroyed and roads of communication cut. The inhabitants of the places evacuated are said to have been left destitute.

The Federal Trade Commission plans to supervise the sale and distribution of news print through a board of five members, one each from the manufacturers, jobbers, large publishers and the Trade Commission. Members of the commission just back from New York say the consumption threatens to outstrip the production of news print. In the meantime, jobbers are offering only half a cent reduction to consumers from their full stocks on hand, the latest quotation being 5 1/2 cents with transportation added.

14 VILLAGES CAPTURED

Berlin Explains Somme Withdrawal as Stratagem to Force Decision in Open.

London, Mar. 21.—"Despite the less favorable weather conditions," says the official report from British headquarters in France tonight, "we made considerable progress again along the greater part of the front of our advance south of Arras, and an additional fourteen villages have been cleared of the enemy."

"Our troops now have passed the general line of Canizy, Estree-en-Chausse Nurlu Velu, and St. Leger." British troops now are within 12 miles of St. Quentin.

French cavalry has advanced to within about four and a half miles of St. Quentin, one of the larger towns believed to be strongly defended by the Germans.

Further progress by the French is reported in the official statement of the war office issued, and considerable territory has been re-occupied between the Somme and the Aisne.

BERLIN'S EXPLANATION.

"The German evacuation of Bapaume, Roye, Noyon and Peronne is but a part of a great strategic undertaking which promises to revolutionize warfare on the entire western front and constitutes one of the most decisive moves in the war."

"Just as a month ago the Germans evacuated an important sector on the Aisne, but kept the fact secret for a week while the British bombarded the empty trenches, so today's report shows the most important developments of 1917 on any front. The sector including the evacuated cities virtually covers the great Somme battle front. Reports from this section of the front tell of effective work of destruction carried out before the occupied land was given back to the French and British, so that it will avail them nothing."

"With the enormous amount of enemy territory held by our troops," said a high German military authority, "there is no particular military significance attached to any special section of the enemy's territory. Therefore, we can give up a portion of the western front, secure our troops that freedom of movement needed and end trench warfare. That is what this really amounts to. We are now getting the enemy out of their trenches."

"The giving up of this portion of our front puts an end to all their finely laid spring offensive plans. Ever since November, hundreds of thousands of men have been at work building trenches, munition depots, railroads and cable lines to prepare for the biggest spring offensive of the war. Now at one blow all that is gone, for nothing. In the face of our withdrawal, all this is useless. Four months' work of millions upon millions of dollars in value has been rendered valueless while more important still all the enemy plans are likewise of no worth. They must make entirely new ones to cope with the new situation. This is a difficult matter, entailing weeks, yes months of work, and requiring an enormous quantity of new observation. Meanwhile the enemy is left at the mercy of our plans."

"It is most important to remember that the new positions we are taking up back of the old front are built with the aid of every possible device developed in two and a half years of warfare. The old positions were the result of the breaking off of unfinished offensive towards Paris. Many portions of our positions were held only with the greatest difficulty. The

JUDGE REED
ON BENCHHearing Some Unimportant
Equity and Common Law Cases.

JUDGE BUSH DISQUALIFIED

By Connection With Them
As An Attorney Last Year.

With Judge W. M. Reed, of Paducah, on the bench, circuit court is occupied this week with some matters in which Judge Bush was an attorney before his election.

The important case of Cravens against Merritt, a damage suit in which the former verdict was $6,000, was set for re-trial, but this case has been continued till late in the term.

Yesterday some equity matters of minor importance were being heard and decided by Judge Reed.

OLD OFFICERS
RE-ELECTEDPoultry Improvement Association Held Its Annual Meeting.

The Christian County Poultry Improvement Association held its annual meeting for the election of officers at the H. B. M. A. Monday night. The old officers were re-elected, viz.: Chas. M. Meacham, President; J. W. Stowe, Vice President, and B. D. Hill, Secretary and Treasurer.

Jas. A. McKenzie, P. B. B. Brooks, Lewis A. Waller and J. M. Neblett were taken in as new members.

Messrs. Brooks and McKenzie addressed the association, urging its co-operation in standardizing the county with White Wyandottes. They have undertaken to place 30,000 Wyandotte eggs in the hands of any breeders who will set them and pay $1 any time between now and Nov. 1st, in money, or fowls or eggs at market prices. Most of the members agreed to place several settings of eggs and set some themselves. Arrangements have been made to get the eggs as they are needed.

T. J. Baugh, L. A. Waller and Mrs. Eloise Graves, were appointed a membership committee to secure new members. It was decided to have a mass meeting at the Avalon next Monday night to talk about White Wyandottes and Messrs. McKenzie and Brooks promised to have some White Wyandotte fowls on hand to let those present see them. Everybody is invited to this meeting.

PROMINENT MAN DIES.

Morganfield, Ky., Mar. 21.—William Marion Lanham, age 79, was found dead in his room at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Fenwick, Monday morning at 2:20 o'clock. His death was caused by Bright's disease, which developed heart complications. The death of Mr. Lanham came as a surprise to the community, as he had gone to church Sunday morning and had taken a walk in the afternoon. His wife died less than a month ago, Feb. 22.

Safe Get-away.

Seven prisoners overpowered the jailer at Birmingham, Ala., and escaped Tuesday morning. Three of the men were under death sentences. Two of them, David D. Overton, who killed Judge W. T. Lawler, at Huntsville, and Tony Malino, were killed by a posse next day and another wounded and captured. Four are still at large.

Mrs. Emily Hutchinson, a suffrage leader, aged 87, leaped to her death from a high window in New York.

SWAT THE FLY
THE SLOGANOf The Civic League For A Clean And Healthy
Town.

The Commissioners met Tuesday and devoted considerable time to the discussion of public health measures for the coming season. Committees were appointed by the Civic League to fight the house flies in an energetic swatting campaign, as the first step toward sanitation. The Commissioners approved this idea and promised to help and pass such ordinances as may be needed.

Other ordinances looking to a clean town were asked by the Civic League as follows:

Ordinance forbidding the hitching of horses where same is prohibited by sign posted by the property owner.

City to purchase borax and furnish it to persons not able to buy it themselves, this to be used in disinfecting stables.

Have all stables public and private, inspected at an early date.

See that livery stables, meat markets, etc., are supplied with fly traps and have same cleaned at regular intervals.

Require all owners of stables to have all refuse removed or treated with borax to disinfect it and kill the eggs of flies laid in same.

Also to provide for having dry garbage (no slops) deposited in metal cans at each residence and have this collected by the city and destroyed as often as possible.

60 CHASERS AND SPEED WARSHIPS8-Hour Law Suspended In Naval Construction--Volunteer
Crews Enrolled.

Washington, Mar. 21.—Preparation for aggressive action by the navy against the German submarine menace began Monday at the direction of President Wilson.

The President authorized the expenditure of $115,000,000 emergency fund, provided by Congress to speed up naval construction and pay for special additional war craft, and the suspension of the eight-hour labor law in plants engaged on navy work.

Immediately afterward Secretary Daniels ordered the New York navy yard to begin building sixty submarine chasers of the 110-foot type, to be completed in from sixty to eighty days.

With the President's approval, the Secretary also ordered the graduation of the first and second classes at the Naval Academy.

The first class will go out on March 29, releasing 172 junior officers to fill existing vacancies, and the second in September, furnishing 202 more, a full year before they otherwise would be available.

MRS. HARRISON PASSES AWAYNative of Todd County and Interment Took Place
In Elkton.

Mrs. Mollie Harrison, wife of Mr. John H. Harrison, died Monday at her home, No. 304 O'Neal avenue. Death was due to complications. The deceased was about fifty years old and a member of the Christian church. She is survived by her husband, three daughters and one son. The remains were taken to Elkton and interred Tuesday.

Albert Malone and Nat C. Cureton, Jr., won appointments to Annapolis at Louisville, in competitive examinations. They must stand final examinations April 17.

CONGRESS
HURRIED UPPresident Wilson Moves Up
the Date Two Weeks to April 2.

WAR TO BE DECLARED

If Congress Takes the Same
View As the Cabinet Holds.

Washington, Mar. 21.—President Wilson today called congress to meet in extra session on April 2.

The purpose is to take action on the state of war which admittedly exists between the United States and Germany.

Congress probably will be asked to declare that a state of war has existed since some recent date, when the Germans submarines began conducting their most warlike operations against American commerce.

NEW ROAD
TO GREENVILLEWork Has Been Begun on Road From Greenville Into Seventh Street.

Work was begun yesterday on opening the new road from a point just outside the city on the Elkton or Fairview road, running north to a point on the Greenville road near Quarles' grocery. It will be 30 feet wide and the work is being done under the contract of Montgomery, Perkins &amp; Co. and the road will become an inter-county seat road. The old road is not interfered with, but the new route is shorter to Main and Seventh streets and is a beautiful and perfectly level stretch of a quarter of a mile, eliminating the Gainesville hill, the dangerous First street crossing and other disadvantages to traffic.

The thoroughfare was opened at a cost of about $250 for right of way. It removes no houses, but takes territory from the back ends of some vacant lots and at Seventh street conforms to the street plan of the Higgins addition. A part of the way it is only necessary to widen an alley.

FIFE BROTHERS
EVANGELISTSTo Begin A Meeting At The Tabernacle Sunday
April 15th.

The Fife Brothers, of Plymouth, Indiana, known as the "World's Most Musical Evangelists," are natives of Kentucky, having been born and reared a few miles from the native home of Abraham Lincoln. They belong to a family of preachers, and possess many distinctive qualities as evangelists that place their work above the ordinary.

They are Clyde Lee Fife, evangelist; Robt. S. Fife, assistant, Earl H. Fife, musical director, with Fred H. Kuhn advance man.

The Fife Brothers present a unique type of evangelism that meets the modern world upon its own ground, and by an exceedingly beautiful and attractive musical program, they first entertain, then interest, then instruct, and then in the most effective manner they lead on to a whole-hearted surrender to Christ.

At the Tabernacle April 15th.

A team of bowlers from this city will go to Bowling Green tomorrow night to play a return game with a team there. The Bowling Green team was recently defeated here. The game will be bowled under the rules and regulations of the American Bowling Congress Guide.

WILL RECOGNIZE
RUSSIAN REGIMEUnited States Will Accept
New Provisional Government Shortly.

REPORTS ARE FAVORABLE

Ambassador Cables Army and Navy Support Rodzianko and Milukoff.

Washington, March 21.—Early recognition by the United States of the new government set up by the revolution in Russia was forecast here in the belief that good order now prevailing and the plans being made for a permanent constitutional government call for the moral support of this country. All reports to the state department indicate that the army and navy are supporting the provisional government.

AMBASSADOR'S REPORT

Ambassador Francis, at Petrograd, summarized the situation in the following cablegram:

"The last week has been the most astonishing revolution. Two hundred million people, who have lived under absolute monarchy for one thousand years and who now are engaged in the greatest war in history, have forced their emperor to abdicate for himself and his son and induced the brother, to whom was transferred imperial authority, to accept on condition that the constitutional assembly of people so wish and who will exercise power under authority of government framed by that assembly."

NO OPPOSITION IN COUNTRY.

"No opposition to provisional government, which is a council of ministers appointed by a committee of twelve named by the duma. Absolute quiet here and throughout Russia. Rodzianko and Milukoff assured whole army and navy support. Everything learned from unofficial sources and confirmed. Plan of provisional government is to call constituent assembly or convention whose members be elected by the whole people and who be empowered to organize good government. Whether republic or constitutional monarchy undecided, but conclusions of the assembly will be accepted by the people and enforced by the army and navy."

With each day that passes, the conviction increases that republican constitution Russia has come to stay."

DEATH CAUSED
BY PARALYSISVictim of Attack Succumbs
After Illness of Several Months.

Rufus Arnold died at his home near Crofton last Saturday morning after an illness of several months of paralysis. He was 26 years old and was survived by a wife and four children. Mr. Arnold was a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Arnold, of near Manitou, Hopkins county, and interment was made near that place Sunday.

DIES EN ROUTE HOME.

Nashville, Tenn., Mar. 21.—Joseph Hamilton Thompson, leading citizen of Nashville in all its commercial and civic enterprises for many years, died Sunday morning of heart failure on the train just outside of Atlanta, Ga. He was returning from Stewarts, Fla., where he had spent a month's vacation on the advice of his physician.

Net income of Bethlehem Steel cor-

153 per cent. over the net income of the previous year.

The strike, from the first looked like an indecent attempt to hurry up a supreme court decision and embarrass the government in a national crisis, was very properly called off.
The indications were that the men would have been too patriotic to have obeyed the strike order.

Members of the family of Frank R.

his engagement to Margaret Wilson, oldest daughter of President Wilson.
Mr. Compton recently returned to Chicago from Washington where it is said his suit for the hand of Miss Wilson was a success. He was reported engaged to Miss Wilson more than a year ago, but both the family of the President and Mr. Compton denied the report at that time.

DAIRY

COMPOSITION OF SKIM MILK

Guernsey Milk, Like That of Jersey, Has High Percentage of Protein and Sugar.

Heretofore the difference between the percentage of butterfat in Jersey cows' milk and that of Holstein's has been often emphasized. Only recently has the fact been known that there is considerable difference in protein.

Chemical analyses made by A. E.
Perkins, dairy chemist at the Ohio experiment station, show that milk from Jersey cows has a higher percentage of protein and sugar than Holstein milk. Guernsey milk is quite similar

English Prize Guernsey.

to that of the Jersey, while Ayrshire milk is intermediate between that of these two breeds and the Holstein.

These analyses indicate that the percentage of protein in milk increases with the fat content, but not in proportion. Skim milk from Holstein milk having 3.3 per cent fat contained 3.5 per cent protein, while Jersey milk tested 4.7 per cent fat and 4.1 per cent protein. The variation in the sugar content showed a similar tendency.
Thus the fat content of milk offers a practical basis to compute the composition of skim milk derived from it.

RIGHT SPEED FOR SEPARATOR

Often Nearly One-Half of Fat May Be Found in Skim Milk When Machine Is Run Slowly.

As much as 50 per cent variation in the richness of cream may be obtained by variation in speed of operating the separator. If normal speed is 55 turns of the crank per minute, 75 turns will bring rich cream and 25 turns will bring thin cream. A great deal of fat is lost in the skim milk when low speed is used. Sometimes nearly one-half of the fat may be found in the skim milk when the separator has been run too slowly. This demonstrates the fact that there is only one speed for economical operation of the separator, and that is the right speed. This speed is indicated on the crank handle.

MILK STOOL IS CONVENIENT

Device Buckled Around Waist of Milkmaid by Means of Straps Is Always Ready for Use.

A very handy stool for use in milking the cows in yard or field may be made as follows: It is merely a one-straps connected with a broad strap that is buckled around the waist. The stool is quickly fastened to the milker and is always in a position so one can sit down anywhere. Such a stool with a short leg is also useful in the garden.

CAUSE INDIGESTION IN CALF

Found From Experience That Slight Variation in Temperature Will Bring on Disorder.

Under natural conditions, milk consumed by the young calf has a temperature of approximately 100 degrees.
It has been found by experience that a slight variation from this temperature may cause indigestion.
Especially is this true with calves
under two months of age.

Worth Weight in Gold.

Abingdon, Va.—Mrs. Jennie Mc-Cal, of this place, says, "I had been troubled with renal complaints, for over ten years. I could not walk or stand on my feet, and had been almost confined to the house, for a long time. I began to take Cardui, the woman's tonic, and now I can walk anywhere I want to go. Cardui is worth its weight in gold."
This is a high estimate on a plain, herb medicine, yet there are thousands of women who would gladly pay this price for a remedy to relieve their suffering. Cardui has helped others. Why not you? Try it.

Making Up

"Good evening, Miss Middleton," said the young man to the girl who had just been seated next him at the buffet supper.

"Good evening, Mr. Bopps," rejoined the girl, apparently in immense surprise at seeing him.

"Naturally," went on the young man, "I regret making you uncomfortable, if only for a short time, but I could not very well object when the hostess asked me to sit here. She, of course, did not know—"

"Oh, don't apologize," murmured the young woman. "It is a matter of perfect indifference to me whether you are here or ten miles distant. I trust you realize that so far as I am concerned you might just as well be somebody else as yourself. I am not in the least annoyed by your presence."

"I am very glad of that!" said the young man. "I dislike inconveniencing anyone. It is rather a shock to be told that I don't matter twopence, but I suppose the shock is merely proof of my egotism. You needn't talk to me if you don't want to—I'll understand!"

"And have everybody in the room noticing?" demanded the young woman indignantly. "They would say that we have been quarrelling!"

"Well, haven't we?" inquired the young man. "Why shouldn't they notice it? I don't care!"

"That's because you are so abominably selfish!" flashed the young woman. "Just like a man! Do you suppose I want everybody gossiping about us and talking us over and wondering which of us broke the engagement?"

"I'd be interested in knowing how you are going to help it?" remarked the young man. "I presume that some time in our lives we'll each marry someone else, and then it will be impossible to keep the public from knowing that you and I are no longer engaged."

"You are hateful!" said the young woman. "And I must say that if you have already fallen in love with some other girl I have my opinion of you!
I wouldn't have believed it even of you!"

"It takes years to probe the depth of a man's iniquity," the young man told her.

"Who is she?" asked the young woman, putting salad dressing on her ice cream.

"I didn't mention anyone," the young man said carelessly. "I'm going to address a few words to the girl on the other side of me. She seems neglected."

"You are going to answer my question," the young woman told him, firmly. "You're here and you've got to take the consequences. You let a remark slip out by accident and I have a right to know what you meant. At least—that is—well, I had a right so recently that it extends to now! You needn't think I haven't seen the way that hateful Olivia has been working to get you away from me, and you know you always admired her eyes. You said that next to mine hers were—"

"Really, what does it matter?" asked the young man. "I am nothing to you, for you said so yourself when I first sat down here, and I feel that I am robbing the man on the other side of you of his right to your attentions. Besides, I know it is painful to you to talk to a person you dislike as much as you do me."

"I hope I know how to be polite," said the young woman, "even to an enemy."

"I'm not your enemy," objected the young man.

"Well, from the way you acted the other day," said the young woman, "I had a right to think you just hated me!"

"Not at all!" said the young man.
"You were doing all the hating."

"Why, George Bopps!" she cried.
"Laying it on me like that! You made me think—"

"Well, you certainly led me to think—"

"I never did!" she said. "You are mistaken!"

"Really, Geraldine?" asked the young man, a bit huskily. "Didn't you mean it?"

"And didn't you?" she queried. "Look out—there are other people in the room!"

"I don't care!" said the young man, joyously. "I'll hold your hand if I want to!"

"George," she said tremulously, "I—I'll have to confess. I asked the hostess to seat us next each other!"

"I knew it," said the young man.
"I heard you ask her."—Chicago Daily News.

German Trifle.

Put one pint of berries in a glass dish. Sugar the fruit and add a layer of macaroons and pour over all a boiled custard scalding hot. When cold cover the top with the whites of the eggs beaten with a little sugar. To make the custard put one quart of milk into double boiler. When hot add yolks of five eggs. Sweeten to taste and cook

OLD MAN RECOGNIZED BREED

Certainly Youngster Showed Himself Skilled in One of the Attributes of a Sailor.

Jack, the gallant member of the "king's navy," had returned home, and was regaling his family with tales of the North Sea.

"Ah, I tell yer, we 'ad some awful rough nights out there! Nights I thought I'd never live through!"

"Bah!" cried his father, an old merchant seaman. "You an' yer rough nights! Why, the North sea's like a lake compared to bits o' the Pacific I been in! You young fellers are too mollycoddled in the modern navy. Why, once I was in a typhoon in the South seas, and it blew so 'ard that the cap'n gave orders to cut away the mast, and when the carpenter came on deck the gale blew the teeth clean out o' his jaw."

"Grr! That's nothing!" snorted Jack, contemptuously. "Why, Beatty's squadron the other day caught a gale, and it happened to catch their guns end on, and it blew the breeches off 'em!"

"Jack," said the old man, "I take back my sneering remarks after that! I can see you're a good sailor—in every way!"—London Answers.

Don't Let Your Cough Hang On

A cough that racks and weakens is dangerous, it undermines your health and thrives on neglect. Relieve it at once with Dr. King's New Discovery. This soothing balsam remedy heals the throat, loosens the phlegm, its antiseptic properties kills the germ and the cold is quickly broken up. Children and grown ups alike find Dr. King's New Discovery pleasant to take as well as effective. Have a bottle handy in your medicine chest for grippe, croup and all bronchial affections. At druggists, 50c.—Advertisement.

The Gentleman.

The gentleman is never unduly familiar; takes no liberties; is chary of questions; is neither artificial nor affected; is as little obtrusive upon the mind or feelings of others as on their persons; bears himself tenderly toward the weak and unprotected; is not arrogant, cannot be supercilious; can be self-denying without struggle; is not vain of his advantages, extrinsic or personal; habitually subordinates his lower to his higher self; is, in his best condition, electric with truth, buoyant with veracity. Gentlemanhood is not compassed by imitation, because inward life is not imitable; nor is it purchasable, because refinement cannot be bought; nor is it partially inheritable, because nature's disadvantages monopolize. It is not superficial, its external being the tokens of internal needs, its embellishments part and parcel of its substance.—George Henry Colver.

Clear Away The Waste

Bowel regularity is the secret of good health, bright eyes, clear complexion, and Dr. King's New Life Pills are a mild and gentle laxative that regulates the bowels and relieves the congested intestines by removing the accumulated waste without griping. Take a pill before retiring and that heavy head, that dull spring fever feeling disappears. Get Dr. King's New Life Pills at your druggists, 25c.—Advertisement.

The Best Courage.

No true manliness can be realized where courage is not present—courage, as denoting not merely that keen instinct of battle which displays itself in stimulating excitement, in the heat of contest, in the crisis which pushes one to self-sacrifice, or in passion's championing of favorite opinions, but as representing what is simpler than this, and also deeper: strength of heart, strength to endure as well as attack, to pursue and achieve as well as to attempt, to sacrifice self altogether, if need be, on behalf of any controlling conviction. A thorough consent of judgment, conscience, imagination, affection, all vitalized and active, with a certain invincible firmness of will, as the effect of such a consent—this is implied in a really abounding and masterful courage.—Richard Salter Storrs.

Do not judge from mere appearances, for the light laughter that bubbles on the lip often masks over the depth of sadness, and the serious look may be the sober veil that covers a divine peace and joy. The bosom may ache beneath diamond brooches, and many a little heart dances under coarse wool.

Assuming the above to be true, we will proceed to tear a page from the life diary of Mrs. Weaver and present it to our readers.

That New Suit.

"What am I going to do about that new suit I must have?" said Martha Weaver to her husband as he came in from work one evening.

"Why is there any question about that? Go to Hopkins & Co. and get what you need. If you need a suit, get it," answered her husband.

"I have looked there," replied Martha, "but they haven't anything that I want. I just need a simple suit, but I want good material, and it must be neatly and well made, one that I could use for almost any occasion. I would prefer a ready made suit, but those that Hopkins & Co. have appear to be made of poor, flimsy material, and they are decked out with such cheap, flashy, dowdy trimming that I just cannot bear to wear them," replied Martha.

The False Step.

"Well, what do you want to do—run into the city and get you a suit?" asked John.

"No. That does not suit me either, for when I have to pay my fare, my hotel bill and other incidental expenses it makes the cost too high and also takes more time than I can spare for the purchase of one suit," said Martha. "Could you not order one? Didn't I see some mail order catalogues around here awhile ago?" asked the interested

Muscle Soreness Relieved

Unusual work, bending and lifting or strenuous exercise is a strain on the muscles, they become sore and stiff, you are crippled and in pain. Sloan's Liniment brings you quick relief, easy to apply, it penetrates without rubbing and drives out the soreness. A clear liquid, cleaner than mussy plasters or ointments, it does not stain the skin or clog the pores. Always have a bottle handy for the pains, aches of rheumatism, gout, lumbago, grippe, bruises, stiffness, headache and all external pain. At your druggists, 25c.—Advertisement.

What Can a Boy Do?

The industrial manager has failed often to recognize that the most difficult of all educational problems is to find out what a boy is fitted for. If the college could be sure of the boy's capabilities, and if there could be any assurance that the requirements of the industrial field would be permanent, specialized instruction could be greatly extended. So long, however, as our knowledge of human beings remains as limited as it is at present, and so long as industrial conditions remain as kaleidoscopic as they are, the college owes it to its students to see that their training is such that, should they find themselves out of a position either because of inaptitude in one line or because of changed industrial conditions, they will have an educational foundation broad enough to build upon anew. —Dexter S. Kimball, in Engineering.

Effect of One Bottle.

Crandall, Tex.—"After my last spell of sickness," writes Mrs. Belle Teal, of this city, "I remained very ill, and stayed in bed for eight weeks. I couldn't get up, all this time, and though my doctor came to see me every day, he didn't do me any good. I had taken but one bottle of Cardui, when I was up, going everywhere, and soon I was doing all my household work." Cardui helps when other medicines have failed, because it contains ingredients not found in any other medicine. Pure, safe, reliable, gentle-acting—Cardui is the ideal medicinal tonic for weak, sick women. Try it.—Advertisement.

Ancient "Blue Laws."

The term "Connecticut Blue Laws" has generally been applied to a set of laws passed by the general court of New Haven in 1644, 24 years after the landing of the Pilgrims. The members of the New Haven court were Puritans. That was a period of severe penalties, and even Virginia had a law, passed in 1610, providing that "what man or woman soever shall rob any garden, public or private, being set to wood the same, or wilfully pluck up thorn any root, herb or flower, or spoil any vineyard or gather up the grapes or steal any ears of corn growing, shall be punished with death."

Home building should begin now when money can be gotten for the purpose by becoming a member of the Hopkinsville Building and Loan Association (Incorporated); office at First National Bank. Bailey Russell, Sec.—Advertisement.

"More Deadly Than the Male."

The case of a young woman who routed a "masher" by throwing face powder at him emphasizes once more the great truth that the gentler sex needs no other weapons than those its own armory supplies.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

MARRIAGES.

Clark-Nelson.

Corporal Louis H. Clark, of 3rd Kentucky Regiment and Miss Ruby Lee Nelson, youngest daughter of Mrs. Sarah E. Nelson and the late Clint M. Nelson, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The wedding occurred at the home of the bride's mother, No. 106 W. 19th Street, and the ceremony was performed by Dr. C. M. Thompson. Only a limited number of the closest friends of the young people were present on the happy occasion. Miss Zenia Brackridge played the wedding march and Miss Pearl Nelson, sister of the bride, sang a solo, "Because." Shortly after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Clark left for Nashville, where they will spend a few days. On their return they will, for the present, board with Mrs. Lizzie F. Clark, the groom's aunt, 204 East 22nd Street.

The bride is an attractive blonde, quite popular with a wide circle of friends. For several months she has held a position with C. R. Clark & Co., as saleslady in the china department.

Mr. Clark is a member of the 3rd Ky. Regiment band and returned to this city from the border only a week or two ago. He was reared in this county and is an industrious and well-liked young man.

Brasher-Hicks.

Hon. John B. Brasher, of Louisville, and Miss Bessie May Hicks, of Owensboro, were united in marriage Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Hicks, the ceremony being performed by Rev. C. E. Claxton, of the Presbyterian church. Only the immediate members of the family witnessed the ceremony. The couple came to Madisonville Monday afternoon on the 4 o'clock train and will make this city their future home. The bride is the daughter of the late Shelby Hicks, a Federal soldier, who served as captain in the Seventeenth Kentucky Infantry. She is an accomplished and attractive lady and popular in her home town. Mr. Brasher has resigned a government position at Louisville and will become the general manager of the Madisonville Drug Co.—Hustler.

Lantrip-Turner.

A marriage license was issued March 16th to John Lantrip and Miss Roxie Turner, young people residing in the Scates' Mill country.

Tried To Escape.

Seven sailors from the German commerce destroyers Prinz Eitel Friedrich and Kronprinz Wilhelm, interned at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, attempted to escape Monday night, but were captured by police and marines after shots were fired at them.

KILLING THE LOVE STUFF

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON.

All the week Sylvia had buried her nose in the papers on her desk, all the week she had read and sorted and blue-penciled and dictated amidst the roaring of 50 typewriters and the shrilling of the telephones. A fiction editor under such circumstances is likely to get stalled on romance.

"Love, love, love, it's always love," she declared with disgust. "I get so sick of this everlasting stuff! I think I'll scream if someone isn't murdered soon or the hero doesn't die before his time. But I have to throw them out if they're not dripping with love for that's what the public demands."

No one heard these sentiments for the roaring and shrilling went on unceasingly, drowning almost every other sound. Even Brilles, the hard-hearted managing editor on the other side of the big room was adding to the pandemonium by forcibly calling down a cub for missing a big thing he was sent to cover the night before.

"I think," she mused, as she put on her hat and jacket and hooked up her furs, "that I can't accept any more stories from Treador Vane. The slush is getting so thick I can't wade through. Sometime I'll put it up to Brilles. He's about as romantic and unhandable as a plate-glass window, but not," she glanced over at him quizzically, "so transparent. A regular sphinx, I should say."

She reached the street, a narrow canyon between the high cliffs of buildings. She was greatly surprised that the cold, drizzling rain that was falling at noon had stopped and that the thermometer had not only fallen 25 degrees, but that a wind, biting and strong, was tearing down the street and freezing everything as it went. Pedestrians were groping their way along, keeping close to the wall for safety, but it was hazardous business.

Sylvia watched a moment from the haven of the vestibule. She had three squares to go for her car. Then she had a happy thought. Up in the locker-room she had a pair of skates.

When she went through the big room Brilles was still at his desk—Brilles, the flintlike, the heartless, the much-to-be-fear'd.

Sylvia stopped beside him. He turned in his swivel chair and regarded her silently, running his eyes over her slim, girlish figure in its brown jersey suit, soft furs and little hat under which her face glowed like a rose.

"What is it?" he asked quite gently. "I want to ask you if you don't think we're running too much sentiment in the story column. I've been keeping everything with love in it, and returning hundreds of ripping good stories just because the hero forgot to kiss his girl or the person refused to marry the old maid. I thought I'd ask your opinion. How would it do to run in an occasional good one on another theme? All this love stuff is just a dream."

"Is it?" "Yes—you know it as well as I do. But the public is queer. They're crazy about one Treador Vane. I personally wouldn't give his truck room in the ash barrel."

Brilles tapped his desk a minute thoughtfully. "Look here, Miss Hunter, you're here to run that column, so do as you please about it. I've read that Vane stuff myself and I'm sure I agree with you. You're right about the love business, too. Even the girls nowadays don't know what it means. Business or something has taken all the romance out of them. You're a good example yourself."

Sylvia started and remembered her own summing up of the managing editor. Certainly the verdict was mutual.

"It's a bad night and I'm getting my skates," she said as she left. "I'm going to skate to the car on the pavement."

But as she glided over the slippery street she decided not to take the car. Crossing a street, Sylvia collided with a man. They went down together in a heap.

"Miss Hunter!" cried he springing up.

"Mr. Brilles," exclaimed Sylvia. "Are you hurt?"

"Not a bit."

Just when Sylvia got to her feet with his help she turned pale. "I believe I've twisted my foot," she said.

"Oh, that's too bad! Can you bear your weight on it at all?"

"Yes, if I don't move it."

"Then I'll tow you home. How far is it?"

"About four squares."

When they reached her door she insisted that he come in. "You haven't had dinner, have you?" she asked.

"No," he admitted.

"Then you must share ours," she insisted.

So Brilles, the flintlike-hearted, stayed and spent the evening. The next morning the pretty editor laid a page from a note book on his desk in the office. "I found this on the floor!" she smiled teasingly.

Mr. Brilles took it and turned a guilty red. It was a page of notes with Treador Vane's name at the top. "I'm guilty of those awful stories!" he confessed.

"It's hard to connect you with sentiment," she smiled, "but I've decided to keep the stories on, I thought I'd tell you."

"But you inspired them," he answered quickly. "May I come again tonight?"

"Yes," she said gently.

HILL-WHITE.

Nuptials of Miss Lula White and Mr. Geo. D. Hill Monday.

The marriage of Miss Lula White, of this city and Mr. George D. Hill, of Cleveland, O., formerly of Louisville, was quietly solemnized yesterday at high noon in the parlors of the Kingston Hotel in Henderson. Mr. and Mrs. Whitlow, the Rev. Brooks, of Henderson; Mr. Charles J. White, of Princeton, brother of the bride; the officiating clergyman, the Rev. Sweeney, of Evansville, being the only guests who witnessed the ceremony.

The bride is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. White, of this city, and has a host of friends. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Hill, of Louisville, and was formerly Assistant Engineer in charge of engineering on the Henderson & St. Louis Division and East St. Louis Terminals, and later with the Valuation Department of the Illinois Central Railroad at Chicago, and at present he is Assistant Engineer Valuation Department of the New York Central lines with headquarters in Cleveland, O.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hill left for a trip to Louisville and Chicago.—Princeton Leader.

Capt. Gebhardt Marries.

At the Evansville sanitarium Saturday Mr. F. C. Gebhardt, the popular L. & N. conductor, was married to Miss Effie A. Ross, private secretary to W. E. Smith, superintendent of the L. & N. R. R.

Miss Ross is the daughter of Mrs. Frank H. Gates, of Grand Avenue, and is an attractive and popular girl who has a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Gebhardt, who has been ill at the sanitarium for the past week, is now convalescent and will be able to return home in a few days.—Evansville Courier.

Germany claims to have sunk in February 368 ships with 781,500 tonnage. Britain admits only 400,000 tons.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

MOTHER ONCE WAS AFRAID TO GO TO BED

Spasmodic Croup Often Kept Mrs. Shepard Awake All Night.

No one but a mother knows the terrors of croup. In the hope that other mothers will find the same relief she experienced, Mrs. Benj. Shepard, 27 Spruce St., Danville, Pa., writes—

"I have used your Vick's Vapo-Rub Salve, and would not be without it in my house. I have tried it for spasmodic croup and it acted like a charm. My little girl breathed easier in about ten minutes after I rubbed her throat and chest with VapoRub, and she went to sleep and never woke until morning. Other times I used to have to sit up all night with her, afraid to go to bed. So I will gladly recommend it to any mothers for croup." You just apply Vick's VapoRub Salve over throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases antiseptic vapors that are inhaled with each breath, loosening the phlegm. A real "Bodyguard in the home" against all cold troubles. Three sizes, 25c, and up. At all druggists.

REV. J. B. BUTLER

Methodist Evangelist Died In El Paso, Tex., Yesterday.

News was received yesterday of the death of Rev. J. Barney Butler, at El Paso, Tex., to which place he went six weeks ago in search of health. He expired unexpectedly of tuberculosis of the throat. Mr. Butler was a missionary of the Methodist church and a son of Mr. W. H. Butler, of this county. He was about 40 years of age and had been a missionary to Mexico and Argentine, but returned about two years ago and had been doing work as an evangelist. He leaves a wife and two little girls. It was not known yesterday whether the funeral would be here or at McKenzie, Tenn., which was his wife's home. The body will arrive about Friday.

One of The Best

The NEW SEED LAW requiring all packages of GARDEN and FIELD SEED to be marked or labeled showing the year packed and percentage of generation is one of the best laws enacted for the protection and good of all the people (honest seed growers included.)

You should see that all seeds you buy fully comply with same. Laws are not enacted to avenge a crime but to prevent same from being committed. Not to work a hardship on any one but to help all society. There may be greater crimes than selling bad seeds, but there is nothing more disappointing than a crop failure, caused by planting bad seed. You lose not only the time and labor in preparing the soil but the prospects in a crop as well. The high cost of living now is partly due to such conditions and if you BUY SEEDS that do NOT FULLY COMPLY with this NEW LAW YOU ARE A PARTY TO THE CAUSE OF THIS CROP FAILURE.

WE ARE GLAD TO STATE THAT ALL SEEDS OFFERED BY US

Fully comply with this new law, and furthermore they are grown by people we have bought of for years, who value their reputation more than a few "tainted" dollars obtained by defrauding the public on bad seeds.

OUR BIG BULK SEED BUSINESS

Is one of the largest in this end of the state and is the RESULT of handling that which we know to be fresh, new stock. Our stock was bought early and prices will be NO HIGHER THAN BEFORE THE WAR.

Seed Irish Potatoes are all strictly Northern seed, "grown for seed purposes only." They come a little higher but always can be depended on.

EXILES WILL RETURN TO RUSSIA

Political Subjects and Other Refugees Greet Revolt With Joy.

Paris, March 21.—Return to their fatherland of thousands of exiled Russian political suspects is expected here to be one of the greatest results of the revolution. A large colony of Polish and other refugees are in Paris and many of them serving in the foreign legion. A dispatch from Nice says the large Russian colony there received the news joyously and joined in a telegram to the new minister of justice, asking him to inform them when they could return to their country. A committee was selected to solicit from French, British and Italian government facilitation for repatriation.

Something About Schubert's Hopkinsville Conservatory of Music

Nashville.

Dear Mr. Schubert:

It gives me pleasure to compliment you regarding your accompaniment of the first movement of the Mendelssohn Concerto last Friday, and to tender my thanks for your graceful offer of service to me on that occasion.

With cordial regards,

Believe me, sincerely yours,

The Great Violin Virtuoso.

(Signed) CAMILLA URSO.

Chicago.

Dear Mr. Schubert:

I feel I must write and tell you how glad I was to play in Nashville again after so many years, and how astonished I was to notice the great improvements as to the artistic musical life to which I am sure you have greatly contributed by the influence of your school, which is founded on the best principles that will certainly increase the musical atmosphere. I was so pleased to have met some of your colleagues who help you in your undertaking for the benefit of the art, at the same time let me express my very best thanks for the trouble you have taken during the evening to accompany me in the way you did.

Hoping to have the pleasure of playing with you again very soon, with kindest regards, believe me,

Yours very truly,

One of the Greatest of Violinists.

(Signed) EMILE SAURET.

New York.

Dear Mr. Schubert:

I desire to express my appreciation of your very great kindness to me while I was in your city. I wish, also, to tell you the esteem in which I hold you as a musician. Nashville should be proud indeed to have as its benefactor a musician of your native ability, industry and progressiveness. This country needs just such talented and straight-forward men as you to bring about the spirit of musical enthusiasm, and the so-called "musical atmosphere" which we know only in Europe and which this splendid country must have before we can justly be called the musical nation.

Permit me to express the wish that you may speedily attain to the highest standard towards which you are striving, and that you may continue to receive the recognition and encouragement which your endeavors merit.

With kindest greetings, I am

Very sincerely,

trenches were difficult to maintain and the artillery observation points, so important in this kind of warfare, were few.

The new positions are laid out in the best possible locations, with the finest of observation points and deep concrete shelters for the battery positions. While the enemy is coming up to them, he will be in the greatest possible difficulties himself in the devastated battlefield.

"I regret exceedingly that this move is forcing a great destruction of a beautiful part of France. Yet the destruction is not so great as the devastation inflicted by the British and the French on the Somme battlefield, and when the entente refused our peace proposal it took the responsibility of this destruction upon itself. It is a war measure. We are compelled to take it to carry out a military plan to meet the big offensive the entente had planned. We have destroyed nothing except out of military necessity.

"I know we will be accused again of continuing the war, but we are fighting for our existence. We were compelled by the refusal of the entente to make peace to defend ourselves against their promised offensive. We have done everything we could to avoid needless suffering but what happens is their fault, not ours. "We expect the entente to claim all this as a great victory. They will say they captured these cities. They have not. They have not won them by battle. We are not moving back because of enemy pressure, but we are reshaping the western front lines so that we will have an aggressive initiative.

"Just in this matter von Hindenburg drew back the lines in Poland in the winter of 1914 to make possible the great offensive of 1915 and similarly we permitted the Rumanians to sweep across the Carpathians last summer that we might destroy their armies when they got out of their own lines.

As a miracle he rolled clear of the track, thus preventing his being ground to death under the wheels of the train. His hips were severely bruised, besides sustaining other serious bruises. No publicity was given to the accident at the time.

ANNEX TO COURT HOUSE

Will Be On South Side To Enlarge The New Vaults.

The new vaults on the south side of the court house will be made by extending the present vaults as a projection some 20 feet towards the street. It will be an unsightly addition to the court house, but is the only solution to a much crowded condition. This might have been averted by reversing the offices, putting the sheriff and judge on the south side and the clerks on the north, in which event the annex would not have figured the building, but this change would have been expensive.

Two Bold Buccaneers

By HI AKERS

(Copyright, 1917, by W. G. Chapman.)

Jerry Parks had taken notice of Vera. He liked her voice, the way she spoke, her firm, swinging walk, and the straight gaze of her gray eyes. But things had not gone much further than a few words between them, which came about through his helping her to rescue a floating oar. Talk about American democracy! Well, at a summer resort it's about as easy to establish social relations between the cottagers and a boarding-house keeper as it is to get a lady's maid on the calling list of the duchess of Parchester. Vera's mother took summer boarders in order to be able to live through the winter when there were not any. She had "seen better days," and the remembrance of them had made her careful to instill into the mind of her daughter the fact that she was not to allow herself to be patronized by the "cottage set." The bitterness of her own ostracism caused her to lay rather an undue stress on her advice. But Vera did not seem to even have to rebel against it, she was simply ignored by the social leaders. Still this did not in the least trouble her. The social swim was not with her a burning ambition, and she was too busy helping to run the house, and keep track of a Teddy, a particularly adventurous, small brother to have time to be unhappy.

When Jerry broached the subject of Vera's attractions to his mother, a fashionable matron of the exclusive set, she gave him such a hard, cold, emphatic settler on any attempt at social recognition in that quarter that the young man went off by himself to ponder over the pros and cons of the situation, and whether after all the so-called "best society" was not in need of "hurry call" treatment, and if transfusion of blood were not necessary for its continued existence. Rebellion was rising in his soul, but his mother's teaching from the time he was, a little had was not without its influence. Perhaps after all this girl was not well-bred enough to fit in with his people.

Small boys as a general thing are exceedingly democratic. A common object brings them together on the same footing. True there are sometimes small snobs who are the fruit of the training of the big snobs; but no wholesome, ordinary boy is born snobbish. Birch Parks, and Jay Benson were of the latter class. They affiliated cordially with Teddy Carr whose adventurous spirit not only attracted them, but made him a kind of leader.

It was through the small boys that Vera came to know more of Jerry Parks. He was especially popular with them all, and some of the stories about him that came to her ears made her think she would really like to know him better, even if he did belong to the "cottage set."

Teddy Carr was always promptly on hand for luncheon, so one day when he did not appear it was opined that something rather unusual was detaining him. Vera took the small row-boat, and started out to search. A slightly sprained wrist made the handling of an oar rather painful, but she was not the sort to be kept back by a personal hurt, so she went on. She was making for one of the little islands in the bay when she heard the chug, chug of a motor boat. It was Jerry Parks' launch, and the next moment he was beside her.

"Ship ahoy!" he called out. Then he noticed the handage around her wrist. "Had an accident?" he asked.

"Oh just a little sprain. I turned it yesterday."

"And you're trying to row with that!" he exclaimed. "Now don't do it. I'll give you a tow right away."

And he shut off the engine and started up for the rope.

She stopped him with: "No please—I'm looking for Teddy, and I may be gone quite a while."

"And I'm looking for Birch. I'll bet my hat they're together, and we might as well join forces. I'll give you a slack line, then you come in here."

It seemed quite useless for Vera to demur. He declared he was "first aid to the injured," and almost lifted her into the launch.

"I believe I know what those small sons of Bellal are up to," he said after Vera was comfortably settled. "They have turned bold buccaneers, and are searching for treasure."

"I think," added Vera, "by what I gathered yesterday, it's buried treasure, and it's located on a desert island under a blasted oak."

"Oh, that's the wild adventure, is it?" he laughed. "Well, then we'd better put in to the first island we find."

"Yes," said Vera, "that's what I thought of doing. It won't matter whether it's oak or pine trees, and their imagination will supply the 'blasted' part."

"I can supply the 'blasted' part without any imagination," remarked Jerry with some vexation. "Here's mother having a fit over the young pirate."

"Yes, my mother was beginning to be a bit anxious, but I told her I thought I could find him, and I hope she won't worry. I laughed so when I overheard that pirate scheme, I came pretty near being branded as a spy. Oh, I think the imagination of boys is lovely! I just wish they didn't lose it."

"But suppose," he said, "it should go on leading them on such a wild goose chase as this?"

"Men will be always led by imagination, and will always be going off wild goose chases. I only think that if they kept the boy's imagination they would go on their quests."

Jerry stared wonderfully at the girl. Then he fell to thinking. She had said something that made him think.

They explored the two small islands quite thoroughly, but there was no trace of the bold buccaneers. Jerry, who wished to prolong his stay with Vera, was for starting on a still further cruise several miles away, but she suggested the boys might be home by this time, and they had better turn back. Jerry discovered his supply of gasoline was low, and reluctantly changed his course.

"I'm about starved, too, aren't you?" he asked.

"Well I think it must be about dinner time. Perhaps I can be 'first aid' this time. I put up a lunch for the boys, and if you'll reach for that basket—"

Jerry reached for it, and they became more chummy than ever over the sandwiches which Jerry declared were the best he ever had in his life.

Much to their surprise they found on arriving the boys had not returned. Vera determined to start out alone to a spot they had not visited. She remembered a little rocky cove further down the shore on the mainland. She put up a light on the boat, and started out. Nearing the place she heard a well-known voice raised in a cry of distress. A sorrier, more forlorn pair of pirates were never seen. They had clambered along the rocks to an isolated point, and the rising tide had cut them off from the shore just as they had concluded to try to swim for safety. Birch Parks had fallen on the slippery rocks, and either broken or put out of joint a bone in his nankie. It was so badly swollen Vera could not tell. With the help of Teddy he was lifted into the boat, groaning with the pain.

No one seemed to be at hand when they landed, and the Carr home being nearest, they carried him to the house and hastily informed the Parks family.

As soon as possible a car appeared with Jerry and his distracted mother. After the first meeting with her boy, she stopped and stared at Mrs. Carr. "Mabel Thurston!" she cried. "And here you've been living right near me, and I didn't know!" And she flew at the little woman, and hugged her.

When Jerry and Vera came back from their wedding tour they brought gold watches to Birch and Teddy.

"If it hadn't been for those pirates," they said, "we wouldn't have found the treasure."

Was He Really Stupid?

A young foreigner was being tried in court and the questioning by the lawyers on the opposite side began.

"Now, Laszky, what do you do?"

"Ven?" asked Laszky.

"When you work, of course," said the lawyer.

"Vy, work—"

"I know," said the lawyer, "but what at?"

"At a bench."

"Oh!" groaned the lawyer. "Where do you work at a bench?"

"In a factory."

"What kind of a factory?"

"Brick."

"You make bricks?"

"No, de factory is made of bricks."

"Now, Laszky, what do you make in that factory?"

"Eight dollars a week."

"No, no! What does the factory make?"

"I dunno; a lot uv money, I think."

"Now, listen! What kind of goods does the factory produce?"

"Oh," said Laszky, "good goods."

"I know, but what kind of good goods?"

"The best."

"The best of what?"

"The best there is."

"Of dose goods."

"Your honor," said the lawyer, "I give up."—New York Sun.

"Coals to Newcastle."

"To carry coals to Newcastle" means to do something that is superfluous. Newcastle being a great coal field, carrying coals there would be a type of unnecessary action. The French have a saying "to carry water to the river" for the same thing, and there are several Latin equivalents.

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armour glistering just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia? Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions are being sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by some of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE—"Europe at War"

A big book and over 300 pages, size 10 x 7 inches, handsomely and durably bound in cloth, containing the dramatic history of the great events leading up to the present time, over 50 important and timely special articles by experts on the different phases of the conflict; hundreds of graphic pictures, portraits, photographs, diagrams, specially drawn war maps, illuminating statistical records, copies of official documents and diplomatic messages exchanged between the powers—a clear, vivid, accurate, permanent, interesting and valuable record—a record which once seen you will not willingly be without. Europe's past and present are here dramatically pictured and presented. Hundreds of illustrations graphically tell their own stories. More fascinating than any romance, here is a history so vivid, so dramatic, so stirring, so fascinating, so realistic, so wonderfully presented, so thrillingly told that it leaves an indelible impression.

Your War News Clarified

It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos and the "Review of Reviews" will do it for you.

Morganfield, Ky., March 21.—"Uncle Josh" Robinson is going to the Confederate reunion in Washington. They have already made arrangements for a place for him to stay—"because they are mighty particular about me now that I am the only colored man left to go to the reunions," he says.

"Uncle Josh" is the only black man in the United States who wears the Southern Cross of Honor, given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy. He also draws a Confederate pension, and he is the only Negro who does. He is very proud of his cross, and of his badges from the different reunions, for he has attended every one. He says he expects to go to every reunion until he dies, and that is a long time off. He is not sure just how old he is, but he "was old enough to shoulder a musket in 1862." At every reunion he carries the banner of the Adam Johnson Company, the Tenth Kentucky.

He loves to tell the story of the sack of meal it took him 52 years to take home, for that is the story of how he joined the Confederate army. He lived in Warren county, where he was a slave in the family of Ewing Robinson. One day he went to the mill to get a sack of meal. On his way home he met Captain Bassett, who asked him if he did not want to join the army? Uncle Josh threw the sack of meal over the fence, and left with Captain Bassett. "And didn't go back till three years ago, 52 years after I left," he said.

For years Uncle Josh has lived in

 LATEST DEAL

Another Oil Lease Sold To
 New York Capitalists In Oklahoma.

Almost equalling the $1,000,000 oil lease sale made last summer by the Fortuna Oil company, news "leaked" out yesterday that the same company had sold 320 acres of oil leases near Yale to New York capitalists. The consideration this time was more than $800,000.

The sale was handled by A. P. Crockett, attorney of this city, and president of the Fortuna company. Mr. Crockett was responsible for the big sale of property last summer, which went to the Roxana company. The leases old adjoin those bought by Roxana. Both sales were for acreage upon which there was no production.

The Fortuna company still retains several valuable leases in the same locality which were not sold because of pending litigation. The leases sold were on the Skeen, Miller, Myers, Brock and Caesar farms—Oklahomian.

THE ADAMSON LAW.

In passing upon the Adamson law the Supreme Court divided five to four. Those dissenting from the decision upholding the law were Justices Day, Vandever, Pitney and McReynolds. The decision rested with Brandeis and Clarke, the two new members.

The majority upheld the public right to have interstate commerce uninterrupted as a basic principle paramount of interests of the railroads or their operatives—both declared to be in public service and subject to the supreme, unrestricted power of congress to take any action necessary to maintain freedom and uninterrupted of interstate commerce. Either as a law fixing wages or hours of labor, the court decided, congress had authority to enact the Adamson statute.

The dissenting opinions—Justices Day and McReynolds delivering individual views and Justices Pitney and Vandever joining in one announcement—variously asserted that the Adamson act is void because beyond constitutional powers of congress, because it takes railroads' property without due process of law or because it is not an hours of labor statute or a legitimate legislation of commerce.

Justices Pitney and Vandever denied that congress had power to fix wages of common carriers' employees—a power upheld by the majority. Justice Day did not admit or deny such power, dissenting because, he said, the law illegally takes railroad revenues and gives them to the trainmen by "arbitrary, illegal congressional fiat."

The wage increase sustained dates back to Jan. 1, when the Adamson act was made effective. Railroads have been keeping account of the trainmen's wages due for prompt payment upon Monday's decision. The temporary wage increases are effective under the law until the Goethals commission reports, while the future wage scales under permanent eight hour day standard will await either private or congressional action after the report.

That the railroads will ask either congress or the Interstate Commerce commission to authorize rate increases to meet the increased wage cost entailed has been plainly indicated through all stages of the controversy.

The immediate effect of the decision will be to fix a permanent eight-hour basic day in computing wage scales on interstate railroads, for which a nation-wide strike has been threatened, and to give, effective from Jan. 1, 1917, increases in wages to trainmen of about 25 per cent. at a cost to the railroads estimated at from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 a year.

It seems to give an air of permanency to the present schedule of wages, although contracts with new men may be made upon a higher basis. Moreover, the employees, who do not work eight hours on short runs may be paid only for the time they work. Future appeals are to be to Congress, which is given authority to regulate.

Morganfield, and he has many friends. He is of the type that is rapidly dying out, the old time farkey. He is always polite and obliging, and tells many stories of the "old days."

He was at Chickamauga and Cumberland Gap, and once he was wounded. For some time he took charge of the horses, but he says that was actual fighting, too, for it always did seem to him that the bullets came faster where he and the horses were. Once near Nashville, they captured a train, and some of the Union soldier tried to take Uncle Josh's horses.

"And for a while I was the only one there to protect those horses," he said.

He met Jackson and once shook hands with Jefferson Davis. He says when he dies he wants to be buried in his uniform with the Cross of Honor attached.

"And there's one more thing," he added. "Say that I've always voted the Democratic ticket, and I've got a picture of Mr. A. O. Stanley hanging in my home."

Some Sayings of Dr. Geo. H.
 Bradford.

To have a great Union, we must have a great Unit. In America that Unit is the American.

The goal of government, is human welfare.

The best way to prevent or stop national warfare; is to consider individual welfare.

Any company in America that pays some of its employees $50,000 a year and others $500 a year has trouble ahead. And if the man who receives the $50,000 annually was worth the money, he would be the first man to see it.

I am for a law that presidents shall be elected for a term of six years and one term only. Even great men need help. Such a law would help a president to see his duty instead of his reelection.

Dr. Bradford will lecture at the tabernacle to-night.

H. B. M. A.

All members of the H. B. M. A. are urgently requested to attend our regular meeting next Friday night, March 23rd, at 7:30 p. m.

This will be a very important meeting, and among other things will take up the project of the Jefferson Davis park obelisk, etc., at Fairview. The success of this laudable undertaking should appeal to every patriotic heart all over the Southland and especially should the people of Christian county awaken to sentiment and duty and give their earnest and loyal support to this appealing cause.

Please don't neglect this meeting for any cause. Be sure to come; we want you, and we need you.

Respectfully,
 JNO. W. RICHARDS, Sec.

Lieutenants Wanted.

Washington, Mar. 21.—The grade of second lieutenant in the officers' reserve corps of the army has been thrown open by Secretary Baker to men without any military experience whatever, provided they are physically and mentally adapted to military life. An urgent plea has been sent out to men between 21 and 32 years all over the country to send in applications for commissions with assurances that the army will supply after enrollment the military training necessary to fit them for duty.

Killed In Life Boats.

It has been definitely determined that fifteen members of the crew of the American steamer Vigilancia lost their lives when the steamer was torpedoed last Friday. Among these men were several Americans. Eight seamen, including two officers, in boat from the relief ship Selien, were killed by submarine shell fire. Seven men aboard the Funisia were killed while the vessel was in so-called safe passage.
